

Prehospital Trauma Life Support (PhTLS) Program

The Maritime School of Paramedicine will be holding the Prehospital Trauma Life Support (PhTLS) Program in the Annapolis Valley. This program has been designed and coordinated by the National Association of Emergency Medical Technicians (NAEMT).

PhTLS is a focused review of the care and transport of multi-system trauma patients. During the course the student will discuss advances in skills and techniques with new combinations and applications of knowledge and skills. PHTLS helps bridge the gap between pre-hospital emergency health care providers and the hospital staff while it reinforces the concept that emergency care is a team effort.

PHTLS is a continuing education program for First Responders, Paramedics, Physicians, Nurses, and other licensed health care professionals.

Dates: Day 1 November 15, 2007 (08:30 – 17:00)
Day 2 November 16, 2007 (08:30 – 17:00)

Location: Middleton Firehall
Middleton, Nova Scotia

Cost: $300.00 per person, including textbook

Registration date: October 15, 2007

Preregistration is required for this program so that the materials may be forwarded to you prior to the program. It is advised that the materials be reviewed prior to arriving for the program.

To register or to obtain further information please call (902)464-5288 or see our website at <http://msop.ca/programinformation.php>